Cars Crash Head-On As Driver Dodges Dog

Property damage was estimated at $1,400 as result of a two-vehicle traffic accident on the Bainbridge-Roadchale Road at 3 p.m. Thursday.

Deputy Sheriff Mel Mangus reported that the vehicles involved in the accident, two and one-half miles north of Bainbridge, were a 1970 Chevrolet Corvette driven by Clifford D. Harvey, 18, Roadchale, and a 1973 pickup truck being driven by Frank W. Williams, 22, Route 1, Bainbridge.

The two vehicles hit head-on when Harvey dodged a dog that crossed the highway in front of him.

No one was injured and no citations were issued.

Deputy Mangus listed damage to the Corvette at $1,000 and $400 to the pickup truck.

In other news, a rescue unit from the Greencastle Fire Department was called to 505½

South Indiana Street at 11:09 p.m. Thursday.

Indiana Gas Per Share Earnings Up 11.3 Per Cent

Indiana Gas Company reported net income of $6,627,560 for the twelve months ended March 31, compared with $5,962,026 for the same period a year ago.

Per share earnings amounted to $3.56, an 11.3 per cent increase over the $3.20 per share reported the previous twelve months.

For the first six months of the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1973, per share earnings equaled $3.23 compared with $3.17 for the same six months a year ago. Net income for the six-month period is not indicative of net income for an annual period due to the seasonal sales of gas for space heating purposes.

The improvement in earnings for these periods, even with approximately 10 per cent warmer weather and a concerted conservation effort on the part of customers, is due to the inclusion of the earnings of Indiana Gas Company's wholly owned sub-

A Little Of: This And That

Two young Greencastle musicians are on a 20-day cruise aboard the Delta Queen, famous Ohio River boat, to New Orleans and back to Cincinnati.

Dick Hardwick, drummer, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hardwick and Robin Hopkins, banjo, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hopkins.

The young men are trying out for permanent jobs as entertainers on the boat.

They will be back in Greencastle on May 14th to play at a convention in Indianapolis.

After this stint, they will fly back to Baton Rouge to board the Delta Queen.

Their many friends here have enjoyed their playing and I know they will be hoping that they get the Delta Queen job.

A friend of mine who has a wonderful garden every year tells me that the time is near to break the ground and get ready to plant.

He says that from the middle of May until the first of June is the right time for this activity.

He should know as I have had the opportunity to eat some of the vegetables that he has grown in the past.

Everyone is talking about the speedy election returns Tuesday night in Putnam County.

The new Votomatic machines sure are time savers.

It certainly beats the old days when you stayed up all night before the final returns came in to the clerk's office.

An interesting display of miniature Indianapolis 500 racing cars is in the window at Vern Elmore's Jewelry Store.

The little cars are the collection of Lloyd Grimes.

DID YOU KNOW:

Sideburns, the style of wearing side whiskers and a mustache with a shaven chin, were first called burnside in honor of Ambrose E. Burnside, a Federal general in the Civil War, who originated the fashion.

An entourage of 24,000—noblemen with their families, servants, plus household goods—accompanied the Empress Elizabeth of Imperial Russia when she moved the 400 miles between her palaces at St. Petersburg and Moscow. At her death in 1916, Elizabeth's closets contained 15,000 dresses.

The first printed fishing manual, "The Treatise of Fysshynge with an Angle," published at Westminster in 1496, listed 12 artificial flies, six of which still are in use.

"Young at Heart" was the theme of a presentation yesterday at Northeast Elementary School by Mrs. Spicer's first grade class and Mrs. DeVane's second grade class. One number on the program, directed by Charles Aker, was "Midsummer's Night" with the rhythm band and chorus. Parents of the pupils enjoyed the afternoon program which featured dancing flowers, fairies, elves and goblins.

Early Reelsville Murders Attributed To Transients

Transients figured largely in early day Reelsville murders, according to Mrs. Ruth Hutcheson Craft, whose history of Washington Township has been appearing in the Here is the way she tells it:

The Reel Mill was located between Big Walnut River and a road farther west. It was just north of the railroad bridge. The mill dam caused a deep pool where the Reelsville Methodist Church did their baptizing there about 1890. The present Methodist church there was dedicated about 1893.

The business buildings of Reelsville were west of the bridge along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks. In my youth there were two general stores and the railroad station. The stores sold such things as cambrie for burial clothes, pantaloons (drawers), axle grease, candles, shoe leather and tacks.

The post office was in the railroad station. There was also a telegraph office in the railroad station. I was fascinated by it. It was in a sort of bay window which was built out toward the railroad tracks so that the operator could see down the tracks both ways. I would stand outside and watch the telegraph keys dance busily. It was said that the operator could tell what the telegraph key said and could also tell it what to say. Sometimes he wrote the message down and then worked the signal boards outside the station. Sometimes he paid no attention to it. The telegraph system was installed for the railroad but for pay he would send a message for you. The telegraph was run by electricity. There were electric lights there, but this was the only electricity in the area.

On the hill north of the railroad were the church, school and cemetery. I remember my dad taking me to the mill when I was very young. A man gave me a penny. I dropped it and it went through a crack in the floor and into the water. It would have bought me two pieces of striped peppermint candy but, happily, I got the candy anyway.

At one time it was said that there were four saloons in Reelsville. There was a place called the Old Virginia House. I suppose that it was an inn. Plenty of liquor flowed in Reelsville. I don't know the source of the money spent for the spirits. There were two murders there. The first was when a transient killed a storekeeper. The storekeeper was closing for the night and taking his money home. The robber had probably come in on a freight train. He shot the storekeeper as that thrift merchant was burying the days receipts by the light of a lantern. The murderer was caught and sent to prison.

Later another transient was killed by two local men. The natives were drinking and they teased the stranger. He left walking west along the railroad tracks. The other two men followed. His body was found by the water tank. John and William Reel had a general store in Reelsville, and the following items were among those sold: warp for looms; dyes such as madder for red, indigo for blue, and copperas for brown; quinine, landanum, castor oil, clove oil, tea, sugar, coffee and calico. Records show that one of the Wilsons bought a quarter of a pound of coffee. The storekeeper bought ginseng and other things from his customer.

Reels and Wilsons had one or more sawmills along the Big Walnut River. David Green Wilson died a few months after his marriage in March 1938. Papers from the settling of his estate show bills due the Reels for lumber for flooring, sheeting (sheathing), nails and other material for building. He had been building a log cabin 16' x 20'.

It was on his entry north of Reelsville and west of what later became Hamrick Station. The actual Hamrick Station was not, of course, built until the Pennsylvania railroad came through. This cabin was on land near that owned by Cecil Sutton.

Portugal Is Textbook Case In How Communists Benefit

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Portugal provides a textbook case of how Communist parties benefit from the suppression of political rights by dictatorships. Spain and others may be nervously assessing the example.

Portugal's Communist party is confidently demanding ministries in the new provisional government that is promised by the military leaders that toppled the dictatorship. Of all suppressed parties, the Communists appear to have emerged as the most tightly unified, organized and disciplined.

This is not new. In other countries, moderate elements often were blinded by the sudden light of freedom and had to grope, while the Communists had long prepared for the emergence from underground.

Cuba, for example, suffered a heavy-handed dictatorship that permitted the Communists to make common cause with elements of the center and moderate left. When the dictator's police power disappeared, the Communist party was organized, disciplined against division and ready to operate.

When the Nazi Occupation suppressed political parties in France during World War II, the Communists' tight organizational unity helped them stake a claim to being the chief anti-Nazi force and gave them a leg on postwar political influence.

Today the party is assured a role in the government if Francois Mitterrand, the Socialist presidential candidate it is backing, wins the runoff election May 19.

War-time Italy similarly had many underground opponents of the Mussolini dictatorship, but the Communists' discipline permitted them to emerge from the war among the strongest of parties.

The Portuguese Communist party is 53 years old, and all that time it has been unswervingly faithful to the Bolshevik model. When Portugal became a tightly ruled dictatorship, the party went underground and has existed that way for 48 years.

However, the more oppressive a dictatorship, the more the Communists hope to persuade moderates and leftists to make common cause with them. By 1969 the Portuguese party already had achieved something akin to a united front with the Socialists and even some Catholic organizations. The technique is classic.

Spain's Communist party, numbering only about 7,000 hard-core members, also has been working to achieve a united front while it labors underground for influence among youth, trade union and other social groupings. It has been encouraged lately by a wave of unrest that followed the assassination of the prime minister last December by Basque terrorists.

Bidding Quiz

You deal and open the bidding with One Heart on the following hand:

♠10 ♥KQ974 ♦KJ5 ♣AJ63

What would you bid next if partner responded with:

1. One spade.
2. One notrump.
3. Two clubs.
4. Two diamonds.
5. Two hearts.

1. Two clubs. This comes closer to describing the hand than a rebid of either one notrump or two hearts. It is true that one notrump would immediately identify a hand of the minimum class, but it would at the same time announce balanced distribution, such as 5-3-2 or 4-4-3-2, which you do not have.

It must be granted that two hearts would likewise suggest a minimum hand, but it might also result in failing to locate a club fit.

The chief disadvantage of two clubs is that it does not suggest a hand of the minimum class, but the advantages that accrue from painting an accurate picture of the distribution more than overcome that defect.

2. Two clubs. You can't sensibly accept a notrump contract by passing—considering the danger implicit in the singleton spade—and it is therefore best to bid two clubs, hoping to find a better landing spot.

3. Three clubs. This is a straight value bid showing club support and a hand of the minimum class that has increased somewhat in stature because of the trump fit. Change the king of hearts to the ace and you would have full value for a raise to four clubs.

4. Three diamonds. A good case can also be made for bidding three clubs instead, but this might lead to complications difficult to resolve. On balance, the simple raise—which tells partner you have diamond support—is probably the most accurate description of the hand.

5. Three clubs. The possible rebids are three hearts, three clubs and pass. The absolute limit of the hand may be nine or even eight tricks. At the same time, though, allowance must be made for the possibility of making ten tricks if partner has the right hand.

Three clubs is more informative than three hearts and is therefore suggested as the better choice. It affords grounds on which partner can base his next bid of either three or four hearts, depending on how his hand fits.

WCC Track Meet Today

The Edgewood Mustangs will step out of their bus at Blackstock Stadium this afternoon as the nearly overwhelming favorite to claim the 1974 West Central Conference track meet title. The Mustangs' sprinters are the core of the team, with none in the WCC coming close to their times so far this spring. Yet the field events and distance races at meets this year have also featured Mustang names at the top of the place lists with regularity.

The only weak spot of the team, according to reports, is the pole vault, which is pretty much of a vacancy for the conference's leading contender for its all sports trophy.

Counted on to give Edgewood their main competition for the WCC championship will be South Putnam and Avon. The Eagles, who have won eight of their last nine meets, barely breathed by the Orioles two weeks ago, and will have to rely on their depth, avoiding offsetting battles with Avon, and some help from the rest of the field, if they are to have a shot at the Mustangs.

The other two Putnam County representatives in the field today, North Putnam and Cloverdale, will mainly be looking for strong individual performances from Terry Tippin and Harold Greene of the Cougars and Tom Cummings of the Clovers.

The meet is scheduled to begin with the field events at two o'clock this afternoon, followed by the trial heats for the races at 2:30 and the finals at 3:00.

Neese and A. Pizzato; back: Coach Coon, J. Yeary, R. Gibson, E. Raney, T. Cummings, G. Gale, G. Smith, T. Conner and Coach Parks. The Clovers will be in Greencastle this afternoon for the WCC meet.

Cub Golfers Repeat

Greencastle's golf team outstroked a tougher than expected Schulte squad Wednesday on the rain soaked fairways at Terre Haute, opening up the same winning margin they had Tuesday against Danville in ten pointing the Golden Bears, 160-170.

Rick Bittles improved one stroke on his medalist performance Tuesday to once again claim the Cub honors with a 37. David Conrad and Jay Franklin chipped in with 40's while Jim Lett came in fourth with a 43.

The victory brings coach Dick Crawley's linksters to a 8-1-1 record for the spring, with three more matches separating them from the WIC meet the 21st of this month at Brazil.

The Cubs will meet the hosts for the conference meet twice in those matches, entertaining the Red Devils Monday at Windy Hill, and then traveling to Brazil for their invitational meet Wednesday.

"That will be an awfully tough meet," projects Crawley. "With Terre Haute North and South, Vincennes, Lebanon, and Crawfordsville there, there will be some excellent teams on the course. That will give us a good indication of how we will do in the state meet."

The first leg of that state meet will find the Cubs at Rea Park in Terre Haute June 4.

Greencastle's junior high linksters pushed their record to 2-0 when they visited Pine Woods to meet with Owen Valley Tuesday, handing the Patriots their first loss of the season, 240-261.

Seventh grader Brad Collins carded an outstanding 39 to take medalist honors in the meet, while Hirt followed with a 42, Sunkel 49, Dunkin 53, Anches 57, and Cannon 66.

The Tigers will host Owen Valley at Windy Hill for a return engagement Tuesday afternoon.

ICC Ball Race Decided Tomorrow

The Indiana Collegiate Conference baseball championship will be decided in Indianapolis Saturday when 8-2 Evansville meets 7-3 Butler in a twinbill.

A split would gain Evansville a co-championship with 9-3 Valpo, which has already finished action, dividing a doubleheader at Butler Tuesday. An Evansville sweep would give the Aces their first undisputed crown since 1951.

Should Butler gain a sweep the Bulldogs would share the title with Valparaiso at 9-3 and drop Evansville into third place at 8-4 where on-charging St. Joseph's could gain a deadlock by turning back Indiana Central May 8.

connected in the fifth with a two-run double. DeFreites tied it with one swing in the fifth, however, and Dave Revering's solo homer in the eighth decided it.

The Indians took a half-game lead over Omaha and Iowa. Idle Evansville is in the basement, but only three and a-half back.

The 89er's Bill Gogolewski threw a six-hitter and teammates Alan Ashby and Rick Manning had run-scoring doubles.

Tulsa had only six hits against Iowa, but Bobby and Jerry DeVanon stroked two apiece. In addition to Gogolewski's two RBIs, DeVanon drove in a run with a triple to center. The Oilers have a one and one-half game lead over Oklahoma City.

Wichita is at Indianapolis tonight; Denver at Evansville; Omaha at Oklahoma City; Iowa at Tulsa.

BENEFIT GAME SET
NEW YORK (AP) — The 12th annual Mayor's Trophy game between the New York Yankees and Mets will be played at Shea Stadium Thursday night, May 30. Shea will be the home of the Yankees the next two American League seasons while Yankee Stadium is totally reconstructed.

All proceeds will be divided between the two teams' foundations that individually support amateur baseball in New York's metropolitan area. More than $1.25 million in net gate receipts have gone to sandlot baseball programs in the past.

Tulsa and Oklahoma City widened their leads over the second half of the American Association West Division Wednesday night while Indianapolis regained a slim lead in the East.

The Indians defeated Wichita 6-4—the master stroke a grand-slammer by Arturo DeFreites in the fifth inning; Oklahoma City beat Omaha, 3-1; Tulsa's Danny Boddy had a two-run single to contribute to his team's 3-1 victory over Iowa and the Denver-at-Evansville contest was postponed because of rain.

Wichita had a 5-1 lead over Indianapolis after Pete LaCock smacked a three-run homer in the first and Dave Arrington Cougars' third win against six losses this spring.

"We lack experience on the staff, with only one junior, Rex Call, and then two sophomores and a freshman."

One of the sophomores, Ernie O'Hair, started for the Cougars Tuesday, and gave way to freshman Ron Brothers in the fifth inning with North Putnam on top, 13-9.

Sophomore Rick Daniels came to Brothers' aid in the sixth when the Rox rallied for five runs, put out the fire, and finished up the game with a sharp performance.

Most of the fireworks in the free-for-all occurred in the third inning, when the Rox broke the ice against O'Hair for six runs, only to be outdone by eleven Cougar tallies in the bottom of the frame.

The Cougars added three important runs in the fifth to provide a large enough cushion to sustain Rockville's sixth-inning rally.

"We've had a lot of close ball games lately," reviewed Olson. "With no seniors on the team, we're getting it the hard way, but these kids are starting to play good ball."

Steve McGaughey and Neal Miles paced the eleven hit North Putnam attack with a pair of singles apiece.

The Cougars, 2-2 in conference play, travel to Owen Valley this afternoon for an important WCC matchup. The Patriots have lost only once in the loop.

Yet on North Putnam's WCC schedule are undefeated Edgewood and Avon.

The Cougars' B team, after dropping their initial three outings, have come back with wins over Southmont and North Vermillion to pull within one game of the .500 mark.

They will try to reach that plateau Monday when they entertain Crawfordsville.

DePauw's Oslos Up For Hinkle Award

Six outstanding student-athletes in the Indiana Collegiate Conference have been nominated by their schools as candidates for the fourth annual Paul D. "Tony" Hinkle Scholar-Athlete award.

The award will be presented at the conference's annual spring meeting and special banquet Tuesday at the Morris Bryant Motel in Lafayette.

The winner will receive the Hinkle Scholar-Athlete plaque. Special merit plaques will be presented to the other five candidates.

Competing for the honor this year as representatives of their respective schools are Butler--Steve Clayton, Indianapolis; DePauw--Neil Oslos, Speedway; Indiana Central--Oscar Gardner, Valley Station, Ky.; St. Joseph's--Jim Thordsen, Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico; Valparaiso--Faust DeLazzer, Itasca, Ill.; and Wabash--Henry O'Connell, Wethersfield, Conn. Evansville chose not to nominate a candidate this year.

The conference award is named for Butler University's former three-sport coach and athletic director who was dean of the Indiana Collegiate Conference sports scene from its inception in 1951 to his retirement in 1970.

Hinkle award nominees are selected by their schools on the basis of their varsity athletic participation and achievement, overall scholarship, attitude, and both on-the-field and off-the-field campus leadership.

The final selection committee includes the athletic directors of each of the seven conference schools plus ICC commissioner Jim Hinga. Each athletic director ranks the credentials of all candidates except his own. Hinga ranks all seven and conducts the balloting.

Previous Tony Hinkle Scholar-Athlete winners have been Larry Johnson, DePauw, 1971; David Randolph, St. Joseph's, 1972; and Joe Haklin, Wabash, 1973.

Big Ball Game Tonight

BOSTON (AP) — The forwards hold the key for Milwaukee success in its win-or-lose National Basketball Association showdown here Friday night, Bucks Coach Larry Costello said Wednesday.

The Bucks, 96-87 losers to the Boston Celtics in Milwaukee Tuesday, trail 3-2 in the best-of-seven NBA championship series. The Celtics would clinch the title by winning Friday, but a Bucks' victory would send the series back to Milwaukee for a seventh game Sunday.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Bucks' 7-foot-2 center, poured in a series-high 37 points Tuesday, but forwards Bob Dandridge and Cornell Warner added only 10 and two, respectively.

"That's where we have the big, big advantage in the matchups," Costello said. "Not Jo-Jo (White) on (Mickey) Davis. Not the other matchups."

Right there, in the middle."

The Bucks' practice Wednesday emphasized passing to Abdul-Jabbar and getting the forwards more involved in the offense.

Costello said it is too late to radically change tactics, either on offense or defense.

"What we have to do is hope for good performances from key people," he said. "There is no doubt in my mind that if we run the stuff we talk about, we can win."

"There is no way, no way they can stop that stuff if we get movement and execute," he said. "It's that basic. It's amazing we've done as well as we have, not getting the things done that we should have."

"We've got to get a lot from Dandridge because he's more involved than others," he said.

"We've never pressed like this before. It's phenomenal," Celtics' center Dave Cowens said. "Most of the time during the regular season we played a better press. But this is a different ball game now."

Boston mainstays Don Chaney and Don Nelson suffered a pulled muscle and torn toenail, respectively, Tuesday, but both are expected to be at or near peak condition Friday. Bucks' guard Jon McGlocklin aggravated his week-old calf injury and did not practice Wednesday.

"I don't know about Jon," Costello said. "If he can't play, we'll have to use Davis more or get Ron Williams back there."

Although visiting teams have won three of the five games in the series, the Celtics are determined to end it on their home court Friday.

"Now it boils down to who wants the title more," Havlicek said. "Let me just say that none of us wants to come back to Milwaukee."

Quarry Bounces Back

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Frazier's mouth was open. Madison Square Garden boxing promoter Teddy Brenner's mouth was open. Charlie Quarry's mouth was open.

They and several thousand others were staring at Jerry Quarry, sitting in the middle of the ring as a result of a left hook thrown by Joe Alexander.

Quarry got up Wednesday night in the fight at the Nassau Coliseum, but for a moment that left hook severely shook Quarry's fighting future.

Asked what he was thinking about after he was knocked down, the No. 1 heavyweight contender replied, "I knew I was on my butt, that's what I knew. He hit me with the sweetest left hook you'll ever be hit with."

But Quarry got up and knocked Alexander out in the second round to keep intact his June 17 fight with former champion Frazier at Madison Square Garden.

Frazier and Brenner, president of Garden Boxing Inc., were on hand for what almost turned into a horror show for both. Frazier is guaranteed $400,000 to fight Quarry, who is to get $225,000, and the Garden figures to pick up a very nice piece of change from the closed-circuit telecast of the fight.

"It's a good thing you have a big Irish behind," Charlie Quarry, a stunning blond, shouted at her husband in the dressing room.

Quarry quickly recovered from the knockdown and knocked Alexander down twice in the second round. The second knockdown left the Sumter, S.C., fighter sprawled in his corner and he was unable to beat the count which, under New York rules, continued after the bell sounded.

"If I was really in shape, you would have seen a victory," said Alexander, who hasn't fought since he upset Jose Luis Garcia 14 months ago with a one-round knockout.

The 29-year-old Quarry, now 49-6-4 with six straight victories since ending a brief retirement 17 months ago, said the fight helped him shape his strategy for Frazier.

"I'm going to stay off the floor," he smiled.

Success Story Of The 20th Century

Whether working in the fields or in the livestock pens or elsewhere, 4-H'ers involved in the 4-H agricultural program gain real experience in this area, and go on to rewarding careers in agriculture and agribusiness.

American agriculture is the success story of the 20th century. And with increased technology, efficient farming techniques and higher yields, U.S. farms are feeding 210 million Americans and a significant part of the world's population.

"To maintain its lofty position as the world's No. 1 provider of food and fiber, requires the constant infusion of new people into the agricultural industry," says Norman C. Mindrum, director of the National 4-H Service Committee. "Young people, such as America's million plus 4-H members enrolled in agricultural projects are gaining a wealth of knowledge and experience in their work with crops, animals and machines. These are the future leaders of agriculture," the director explained.

He noted that one of the country's leading farm machinery manufacturers, International Harvester Company, is aiding in this push for young people to find their future in agriculture. And to assist them, the company is providing a full schedule of incentives and recognition in the Cooperative Extension Service conducted national 4-H agricultural program.

Topping the list of awards are six $1,000 national scholarships to the college of their choice. Additionally, IH provides an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Dec. 1-5, for a boy or girl from each state. And up to four medals of honor are provided for outstanding accomplishments at the county level.

In 1973, nearly 6,500 4-H'ers shared in the recognition. While most of them received medals of honor, 50 attended National 4-H Congress. And five of the six scholarship recipients look to agriculture for a career — ranching, farming or agribusiness.

Among the outstanding group were: Gregg Hartman, 18, Pueblo, Col.; Barry McCutcheon, 18, Hanford, Calif.; Steve Tresslar, 19, Franklin, Ind.; Iowan Charles Butt, 18, of Hampton and Cam Foreman, 18, Felt, Okla., Freshmen or sophomores in college, the young men are well on their way in agricultural pursuits.

Hartman has a purebred herd of Angus cattle and a flock of registered Hampshire sheep. McCutcheon has grown corn, barley and sugar beets on land rented from his parents; and Tresslar has averaged over 150 bushels of corn per acre for an eight-year period and marketed his crop through beef heifers and steers he has raised.

The Iowa and Oklahoma youths have found an outlet for their agricultural interests through managing rented acres.

For information on how to join in America's success story, agriculture, contact the local county extension office.

Doup Notes Bread Prices Should Drop In Order With Wheat Prices

A bumper winter wheat crop in Indiana was forecast Thursday by Purdue University agricultural specialists, but a farm official had some misgivings about what the record crop will do to prices.

State and federal crop specialists at Purdue predicted a state winter wheat crop of 63 million bushels, largest since records began in 1866. It would exceed last year's winter wheat harvest by more than 2½ times.

The previous high was 57.4 million bushels in 1906.

Agriculture Department officials are forecasting a 1.6 billion bushel crop nationally, up 27 per cent from last year.

The Purdue statisticians report Indiana's wheat acreage at 1.4 million acres, double last year's acreage and the largest since the early 1950s. Average per acre yield is estimated at 45 bushels, 10 bushels more than last year's average yield and only three bushels short of the 1972 record.

The record harvest forecast is due to the lifting of all federal acreage restrictions on wheat and feed grains in 1974, releasing thousands of acres for wheat production.

George Doup, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau, saw lower prices for the farmer as a result of the record crop, but help for the consumer.

He said the record harvest "ought to be reflected in the price of bread and baked goods."

He noted the claim of the American Bakers Association in February that the price of bread this spring could reach $1 a loaf.

How ridiculous this tactic was in trying to impose export embargoes on the shipment of wheat, Doup said.

The price of wheat reached $6.50 a bushel in February in Indiana, but there was little wheat to sell. The price has dropped to about $3.04 a bushel.

"At the rate the wheat market has dropped, bread ought to be reduced in price of at least 4 cents a pound loaf," Doup said.

"And if the wheat price continues to drop, the break in wheat prices should bring even lower prices for consumers."

William Johnson, executive director of the Indiana Agricultural and Stabilization Service, also expected lower wheat prices "unless we can pick up on export shipments."

Protect Your Horses

Horse owners take heed. Protect your animals from equine encephalomyelitis by having them vaccinated now.

That's the recommendation of Dr. W. W. Kirkham, head of Purdue University's diagnostic disease laboratory.

"Equine encephalomyelitis often becomes a serious problem when the mosquito population increases," reminds Kirkham. "Since this increase generally comes in the summer months, spring is a good time to see that your horse or horses are properly prepared."

Frequently called horse sleeping sickness, equine encephalomyelitis is caused by three distinct viruses in the United States. Western equine encephalomyelitis (WEE) has been prevalent in Indiana for years and causes sickness and deaths in the horse population each year.

Eastern equine encephalomyelitis (EEE) virus was identified in Indiana horses for the first time last summer. And in 1971, Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) virus was identified in horses along the southern borders of the Gulf Coast States...but has not been identified in this country since.

All three of the viruses can affect man.

Effective vaccines are available for protection of the animals against these diseases, points out Dr. Kirkham. He encourages all horse owners to have a veterinarian "vaccinate your animals prior to the mosquito season and start of the show and fair circuit."

Indications of equine encephalomyelitis are depression and high fever. "If your animal should show unsteadiness of feet and frequently walk into or push against the side of buildings, trees, fences or other objects, better call your veterinarian," he adds.

Laboratory confirmation of the disease should be made. Specimens should be collected by your veterinarian prior to and immediately following death. Dr. Kirkham stresses that it is important to differentiate among the three virus diseases and other diseases which frequently affect the horse.

No Shortage Of Fertilizer Is Seen

What's the fertilizer picture where home gardening and lawn care are concerned? Are fears of fertilizer shortages for the farm likely to extend into this area?

Probably not, reports Robert C. Rund, administrative assistant in the office of the state chemist, Purdue University.

For one reason, lawn and garden fertilizers are excellent profit items. Consequently, supplies will probably remain adequate. Then too, several major manufacturers of lawn products have already advised their outlets that they can expect as much fertilizer as last spring.

Of course, with vegetable gardening in a "boom" period, demand for fertilizer may be somewhat greater. But this is not expected to affect materially the lawn and garden supply.

Should the fertilizer supply become so acute, however, that farmers turn to sources other than their regular fertilizer dealers, for example lawn and garden centers, the picture could change. This is not anticipated, however, as it would be quite expensive for the farmer.

But people who have been accustomed to using farm type fertilizers on their lawn—such as 12-12-12—will not be able to find these at garden stores, Rund says.

Sharp Decline In Farm, Food Prices, Drops Wholesale Prices To Slowest In Six Months

Sharp declines in farm and food prices slowed the rise in wholesale prices in April to its slowest rate in six months, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said wholesale prices increased seven-tenths of one percent seasonally adjusted and five-tenths of one percent unadjusted.

The increase was still high by normal standards but considerably below increases recorded since November.

April's rise compared with adjusted increases of 1.3 percent in March, 1.2 percent in February and 3.1 percent in January.

Despite the slowdown in farm and food prices, there was no hint that the inflationary surge was abating.

Industrial prices, regarded as one of the surest barometers of inflation, jumped an adjusted 2.3 percent in April, in March industrial prices climbed 2.9 percent.

Farm products, processed foods and feeds declined for the second consecutive month, dropping an adjusted 3 percent and an unadjusted 3.7 percent.

The Agricultural Department predicted Wednesday that food prices would begin to level off during the second half of the year and possibly even decline in the final quarter.

Wholesale prices rose 18.8 percent in the past 12 months. Changes in wholesale prices usually are reflected later at the retail level.

April's increase lifted the government's wholesale price index to 155.3. That means it cost $155.30 to buy the same volume of wholesale goods that $100 purchased in 1967.

The big rise in industrial prices reflected in part the dropping of price controls from various industries.

Metal products accounted for almost one-third of the total increase. Iron and steel scrap rose 14.7 percent and steel mill products increased 2.7 percent.

Price increases by industries freed from price controls appeared to be cracking the Cost of Living Council's heralded anti-inflation commitments for big business unless Congress votes to hold them together.

Ford Motor Co. announced price increases Wednesday averaging $163 for its 1974 autos, and the council said General Motors planned to follow suite.

Wholesale prices for April reflected other increases in a wide variety of materials.

Machinery and equipment rose 1.4 percent. Lumber products jumped 4.7 percent and furniture products 1.3 percent.

Most fuels also jumped in price with the exception of refined petroleum products which declined 1.6 percent. Coal prices rose 17.1 percent; coke 16.4 percent and electric power 3 percent.

Decreases for grains, livestock, oil seed, live poultry, raw cotton, eggs and milk dropped the index for farm products 5.5 percent. However, fresh and dried fruits and vegetables went up in price.

The government said the decline in refined petroleum products would not accurately reflect price changes in the marketplace.

Because of this, the Labor Department said, beginning next month pricing data will be collected directly from petroleum companies rather than from spot quotations published in the trade journal which represents a decreasing portion of the transactions in domestic markets.

Over the past three months, wholesale prices have increased on an adjusted annual rate of 13.5 percent. Over the past year, industrial commodity prices have risen 20.7 percent while farm and food prices advanced 14.7 percent.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

WEED GARDEN

By EARL ARONSON

AP Newsfeatures

If your garden is overcrowded with vegetables it is as bad as having weeds. To Dr. J. Lee Taylor of Michigan State University, crowded vegetables are out of place and "any plant that is out of place is a weed."

Thin turnips, rutabagas and other root crops before their taproots become fleshy. Leave onions and radishes in the ground until those to be thinned are large enough to be eaten.

"It is unwise to sow small seeds far enough apart to permit plants to make their best development," Taylor advises. "Thinning is a much better operation."

Summer Bulbs

We pay a lot of attention to spring flowering bulbs. Let's consider the summer bulbs, such as dahlias, gladiolus and lilies.

Pull weeds by hand when possible because surface roots and stems may be hurt by a weeding tool such as a hoe.

Normal rainfall is usually enough for summer flowering bulbs but they'll appreciate a good ground soaking at weekly intervals during dry weather.

Fertilize the plants lightly with 5-10-5 when they bloom, applying a light ring, but keep it off the leaves and away from bulbs and roots, which may burn. Don't use high nitrogen fertilizers because they may cause bulb decay if you apply too much at one time. Bone-meal is good because it releases nitrogen slowly. Apply it at flowering time — about three pounds for a 5 by 10 garden bed, mixed into the soil thoroughly.

Cut the flowers off when they fade. This will prevent seed formation, which takes stored food from bulbs.

Hoosiers Slow To Fill Feedlots; National Trend At Same Pace

In line with a national trend, Hoosier cattlemen have been slow to fill their feedlots. During the first three months of this year Indiana feeders placed 18 percent fewer cattle in their finishing lots than during the corresponding period of 1973.

David Petritz, Purdue University extension economist, attributes this situation to high feeder cattle prices, high feed grain prices, high prices at the meat counter and the independent truckers strike. All this has resulted, he notes, in losses of $100 or more per animal for some cattle feeders.

Feeder cattle prices have declined in the past weeks in sympathy with the fed cattle market. Still, choice 450-pound steer calves have been bringing about $50 a hundredweight and even higher at some markets.

These calves will be in the feedlot for about 290 days and marketed at 1,050 pounds. Petritz estimates feed requirements for this period are 60 bushels of No. 2 corn, two tons of corn silage, and 440 pounds of protein supplement.

Based on the current outlook for feed prices, plus other cash expenses, cash costs of finishing a steer would amount to about $295 in addition to the original cost of the animal. This means that the cattle would have to sell for around $50 a hundredweight for the cattle feeder to recover his cash expenses, says Petritz.

It is difficult to determine if cattle prices will be this high next January when these cattle are ready for market as many factors influence the price of beef. However, if recent USDA cattle and calf inventory estimates are correct, cattle prices will probably be below the $50 level as larger supplies of beef come to market this fall and winter.

Individual cattle feeders should carefully review their own production efficiency and figure their own break-even selling price, Petritz adds. And this should be made prior to purchase of feeder cattle, he emphasizes.

Wet Conditions Show Early Leaf Blotch

Septoria leaf blotch, a wet weather disease of winter wheat which was epidemic in Indiana last year, can already be found in fields throughout the state, reports Dr. Gregory Shaner, Purdue University plant pathologist.

Extent of the damage from this fungus disease will depend largely on how much rain falls after the wheat plants begin to head. Moisture on the leaves is necessary for germination and penetration of the leaves by the fungus spores, Shaner explains. Spores are spread by splashing rain droplets and wind.

Leaf blotch first appears as yellow elliptical areas on the lower leaves which elongate rapidly and become light tan to brown. These older lesions contain small, black specks, visible to the naked eye, in which the spores of the Septoria fungus are formed. Moisture is necessary for the release of these spores. However, low temperatures can inhibit disease development even through rainfall is favorable, Shaner notes.

Normally, yield loss attributable to a severe outbreak of this fungus disease can range from 10 to 25 percent.

Indiana farmers will have a first line defense against the disease this fall when seed of Oasis soft red winter wheat will be available to them. This wheat is resistant to Septoria leaf blotch and was developed by the famed Purdue-U.S.D.A. small grain breeding team of which Shaner is a member.

Tree Color Check
Foliage that doesn't look right is a tree warning. One trouble you can spot yourself is wetwood, or slime flux. An unsightly ooze is caused by gases from sap fermentation that builds up pressure in trees. A drain tube installation will usually relieve the pressure. The entire crown may die back if you ignore wetwood.

Egyptian Onions
Egyptian onions, a variety also known as the Corrow tree onion, is a worthwhile novelty that provides early scallions. Cold weather doesn't seem to bother them nor do they require special care or soil. Little bulbs grow on the seed stalk instead of producing seed in the ground.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Terry was a victim of love at first sight, and went through 3 divorces. For each wife unwittingly stole the affection that an earlier woman had generated in Terry. But I also fell in love with Mrs. Crane at first sight and have been very happy!

CASE A-629: Terry T., aged 34, has been divorced 3 times already.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "each time I fell for my wife at first sight."

"All 3 girls were freckled, blue-eyed and short."

"And I always felt I couldn't live without them."

"Yet after a year or so of marriage, we quarreled and fought until life became unbearable."

"Now I find myself head-over-heels in love with a 4th girl, who looks much like the other 3 whom I married and divorced.

"So how can I be sure this time that my marriage will be permanent?"

FIRST SIGHT LOVE

Love at first sight explains millions of romances. That's how I fell in love with Mrs. Crane.

It was at a Young People's Meeting in a church and I had never seen her before.

During the nomination of officers for the ensuing year, each nominee was to stand, so the voters could see him or her.

When she stood up, my heart did a flipflop and I'm not joking!

But I played the field for

So I explained to Terry exactly why he kept falling in love at first sight.

And via the Scientific Marriage Foundation (a tax-exempt educational organization) we found Terry a girl who matched him on the 10 fundamental traits for happy marriage.

But she was also picked to be short, freckled and blue-eyed, so we could capitalize on his childhood fixation.

They've been happily married 3 years and have two babies whom they adore!

So send for the "SMF Marriage Questionnaire," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR

is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Mother's Day AGAIN

... and time for us to tell our Mothers all the things we didn't tell her during the past year. Things like "Thank you," "I love you," and "Here, mom, let me help you." For those of us who are blessed with a close Mother-Child relationship, this day will give us a chance to say, in a very special way, the things we should have said by our words and actions all year long.

Those who are not blessed with this close relationship, should try to accomplish, in this one brief day, all the things they didn't do in the other 364. Sometimes we try so hard that we may seem insincere. But on this Mother's Day, make a conscious effort to repair all the neglect and broken relationship that may exist.

Certainly, you may not be able to erase all bitterness and alienation in one day, but you can make a start. And once you start, continue to mend the fences on a daily basis. Then next year, when it's Mother's Day again, you can both celebrate the joy of having each other.

You can both honestly say, "I love you."
